DISNEY FOOD ALLERGIES - 407-WDW-DINE (407-939-3463)

Walt Disney World's dining staff are pros when it comes to serving guests with food allergies! Although severe food allergies affect a relatively small portion of the general population, Disney handles such large volumes of diners that they accommodate several visitors per day with special dietary needs of all kinds, including allergy restrictions. They have procedures in place to enable them to assist you in every request.

You can call (407) 939-3463 (WDW-DINE). Inform the reservations staff that you have allergies. They will provide you with the direct number for the restaurants you have questions about. Upon arrival at any restaurant/counter meal service locations inform the staff of your allergy needs and they can help accommodate your requests. They will help you and if not they will find someone who can (usually the Chef). Remind your server of your needs as you place your order. If you are planning to eat mostly fast foods, then you will need to check ingredients with a manager. You can reach one through the above number or through your hotel staff. Fast food is possible for food allergic guests, but sit-down restaurants are the most secure. It's one thing to advertise the ability to accommodate food allergies, but Disney's system actually works. They deliver on their promise to serve guests with special needs.

An idea of food type/selection can be found at: <http://www.allearsnet.com/din/dining.htm> look at the menus column on the left hand side. Choose the park the restaurant is in and go from there.
